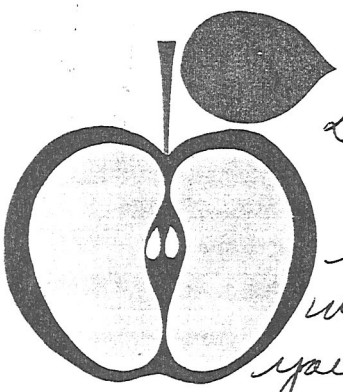
September 23, 1975



Dear Harold and Lil—

We want to thank you again for the wonderful hospitality you showed us — it was a special weekend for both of us. We enjoyed ourselves tremendously — because of the political and intellectual stimulation for Edward, because of our long talks, delicious meals, and relaxing use of your property, but mostly because of getting to know two of the nicest people we've ever met.

And the weekend has had its after-effects, on Edward's political knowledge, which only he can describe, and on my kitchen! Edward was so taken with the food you prepared, that he went out & bought me an electric frying pan — on the pages that with the same tools I'll develop the same good cooking. We also managed to find some apple butter — though it's not as tasty. Oh, and your cinnamon and other ideas you gave us. Like the garden lettuce, which they sell around the corner from us!

Thank you again — I hope we can repay your hospitality someday.

Sincerely yours,
Joanne Edwards

P.S. The tomatoes were outa-sight!